

Chris Skogsberg is proud to serve as an assistant principal at Forsyth County High School. Before coming to FCHS, she spent 11 years working for Hall County Schools in various roles. Mrs. Skogsberg started her career in 2010 at Johnson High School as a math teacher, special education teacher, and finally as a department chair. She moved to an assistant principal role when Cherokee Bluff High school opened in 2018. Originally from Peachtree City, she earned a B.S. in Secondary Math Education from Western Governors University, a M. Ed. in Secondary Math Education for Georgia State University, and an Ed. S. in Educational Leadership from the University of North Georgia. She is a member of the Georgia Association of Secondary School Principals as well as the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Mrs. Skogsberg lives in Forsyth County with her husband, Chad. They both serve on volunteer committees in their neighborhood and enjoy cooking, hiking, and boating. Their son, Jeff, attends the University of Georgia in Athens and is a graduate of Forsyth Central High School.
